The orphans from Kearns St. Ann's orphanage attended the state fair on Thursday as guests of the management, and had a very happy day.

Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Veltz wish to extend their appreciation to the members of the Cathedral choir and the members of the Junior choir for the exquisite floral offerings which were the tokens of their affection and esteem, given in loving memory.

The State Fair.

That the attendance at the great state fair, now being held here, will exceed even the wildest estimate of the lighting calculator, was evident when the number of tickets was counted last Wednesday night after one of the largest days in the history of the institution. Over 20,000 people passed the turnstile at the main gate and wandered about through the different exhibits. They came early, too, and by 10:30, when the judging of the fancy riding horses, ponies and driving horses was made in front of the grand stand, the place was already comfortably filled. Later in the day, after the crowd began to come, it was almost impossible to find a seat, and there were thousands standing on the bleachers and about the fences.

There is one exhibit at the fair that is attracting more than passing attention, not only because of its completeness and the quality of its make-up, but for the added reason that it is itself a distinct revelation. It is the exhibit of the Utah Agricultural college.

The dog show, which opened for the first time Wednesday night, was an especial center of attraction, and hundreds of dog-lovers watched the judging of the beautiful animals which formed the exhibit.

Miss May Noble entertained at dinner at the Alta club last week in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Byrne. The Orpheus club, one of the standard musical organizations of the city, is going to give the first concert of the season on Oct. 19, at the First Methodist church, and for the great event is bringing four of the greatest singers in the country to Salt Lake. They are Signor Campanari, Signor Riccardo Martin, Madame Rappold and Madame Jacoby. All four are well known grand opera singers, members of the Central Metropolitan grand opera company. The club itself will be heard in the magnificent "Largo," by Handel.

The Alumnae association of St. Mary's academy will meet on next Sunday at 4 o'clock in the academy parlors, and all members are requested to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Myers will entertain Sunday evening at a house warming party at their new home, 143 Fourth East street.

Miss Julia Cullen was the hostess Thursday evening at a delightful party given at the Cullen home in compliment to Miss Jean Odell, whose marriage to Dr. Kirtley takes place next month. The large, old-fashioned parlor was both thrown open together and made a splendid dance hall, and the orchestra stationed in the hallway furnished a beautiful program. The library was bright with autumn flowers, and here a punch bowl was set, while in the dining room, with its blue and white decorations, a buffet supper was served. About thirty young people enjoyed the event.

Mrs. M. A. Charlton leaves early next week for New York, to be away a few weeks.

Mrs. George A. Foulks leaves Wednesday to spend the winter in California visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Gray and Miss Sinclair are here from St. Anthony, Ida., visiting Mrs. Porter Sinclair at 245 Fourth East street.

Mrs. J. B. Cosgriff was the hostess Monday afternoon at a delightful bridge tea at her home, given in honor of Mrs. William C. Hall, who is here from Los Angeles to spend a few weeks with her Salt Lake friends. Eight tables of the game were played, and at the tea following the hostess was assisted by Miss Mary Kevin, Miss Mary Smedley and Miss Edna Dunn.

Knights of Columbus.

Salt Lake council No. 602 will give a monthly social throughout the winter. The entertainment committee made this announcement at the regular meeting last Tuesday. The time—last Wednesday night, the place—Columbia Union hall, Second East street.

The third degree will be exemplified on the last Sunday of this month. This being the last chance to join the council this year, applications are being received in great numbers, and an exceedingly large class will be conducted through the mysteries of Columbus' great voyage.

The council is in receipt of a refund amounting to $44 from the San Francisco relief fund. This great sum, which the Knights of Columbus surely must have spent money very judiciously, though not meagerly, during that great disaster. Salt Lake council at that time, with a membership of seventy, collected $45, and the money was refunded nearly 87 per cent. The money has been placed with the fund created for the purpose of erecting a K. of C. home.

We meet every Tuesday.

Junior Choir of St. Mary's Cathedral.

The following circular letter will be sent to all parents on Sunday. Rev. Father W. K. Ryan, spiritual director of the Junior choir, intends, with the co-operation of the parents, to make the Junior choir a credit to the Catholics of the city:

"For the past fifteen years an effort has been made to keep a Junior choir in the cathedral composed of little girls and boys and young girls of the parish. The choir is very dear to Bishop Scanlan's heart, and is under his special patronage. For the past year, owing to the old cathedral being so small, no special effort was made to increase the membership. Now that we are in the cathedral chapel, and nearly in the cathedral, we wish to increase the number to 100 children, especially for the opening of the cathedral.

"Rehearsals are held at 3 for little girls and boys from 3 to 14 years. The children are taught sight reading, church music, Latin and English, pretty children's songs and many simple dances. The work done is excellent, and the music on Sunday morning can be made creditable to the church and all will tend to the honor and glory of God and also the pleasure and happiness of our children and dear bishop.

"Hoping to see your children soon, I remain, sincerely, W. K. RYAN, "Spiritual Director."

Is not the word "home" the dearest of all? Nations may differ in customs, religions and languages, but the love of this one thought establishes a kinship throughout the world.

Within it dwells the hopes of youth, the pride of manhood, and the peace of declining years. It is the birthright of every child and the aim of every parent.

We build houses of such solidity, attractiveness and surroundings as give to the word "home" its fullest expression.

Our representatives will gladly answer questions and fully explain our plan by which you may live in your own home while paying for it, and after final payment you own your home and have saved the rent for yourself instead of your landlord.

OBITUARY.

Falloon.

Thomas A. Falloon, a civil war veteran and an old-time resident of Park City, died at his home at 530 South Fourth East street at 9 o'clock Sunday night. The cause of death was miner's consumption.

Mr. Falloon was born in Ireland and would have been 62 years old had he lived until Dec. 27. He served as private in the First Minnesota heavy artillery (volunteers) during the civil war. He was a member of Park City post, G. A. R., and also a member of the A. O. U. W. He had long been a resident of Park City, but lived in Salt Lake for the past two months.

Funeral services were held Wednesday under the auspices of the James R. McKean post, G. A. R.

The services were conducted by Rev. Father Curran, and the interment occurred at Mt. Olivet cemetery. The Ladies' G. A. R. band and the regulars from Fort Douglas were present at the burial.

A pathetic incident of the funeral was when Thomas Snell, a life-long friend, a grand old soldier and comrade in arms of the deceased, tried to pay his last loving tribute to his friend but was almost overcome with grief.

Miss Harley and Miss Farrell rendered the music in the funeral chapel. The floral offerings were exquisite, and the affection of the old soldiers for their comrade was touching. Since sympathy is extended to the bereaved with and daughter, who sadly mourn the loss of a devoted husband and loving father. He was a man of fine, noble character, a loyal soldier to his country's cause, an earnest, simple, assuming Christian, who by his good life left only the tenderest of memories. May his last sleep be sweet and his soul rest in peace.

Black.

Captain James Black died at Goldfield early Wednesday morning, Sept. 30. His death was caused from heart and liver troubles, from which he had suffered for the last three years. Every mining man in Salt Lake City, if in Utah, knew Captain Black, and all liked him. He was a man of great courage and made and lost several large fortunes.

Captain Black was born at Mt. Carroll, Ill., in the year 1847. When the civil war broke out he enlisted in one of the Illinois regiments. He served during the entire time of the war and rose from private to the rank of captain, which title he held until the end of the war. He was with him at the battle of Gettysburg, and he was with him at the battle of Vicksburg. He was with him at the battle of the Wilderness, and he was with him at the battle of Appomattox. He was with him at the battle of the Red Bank, and he was with him at the battle of the Fort Mifflin. He was with him at the battle of the Fort Mifflin, and he was with him at the battle of the Fort Mifflin.

Not in years has a death brought sorrow to so many hearts as that of Clara Veltz, the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Veltz. The young girl died at the Holy Cross hospital after a brave struggle of nearly a month. Her funeral took place from St. Mary's cathedral, with Rev. Andrew Ryan officiating and Rev. W. K. Ryan preaching the funeral sermon. The tribute paid to Clara Veltz, the life and character of the cherished little girl will linger forever in the hearts of all who heard him. The young girls of the St. Cecilia choir rendered a beautiful music at the home, with little Loretta Becker and Anna Springman, soloists. At the cathedral the members of the Junior choir sang, assisted by the Cathedral choir. The floral offerings were the most exquisite ever seen in the cathedral. The tenderest sympathy is extended to the bereaved parents, who sadly mourn the loss of their dear one, who was too sweet and pure for this life. May the innocent soul of Clara Veltz rest happily forever with God and His Blessed Mother. It is the wish of all who knew her.

"YOU CAN'T KEEP A GOOD TOWN DOWN."

OGDEN, UTAH.

(Special Correspondence.)

A. H. Grover, who has been very ill with typhoid fever for the past seven weeks, is out once more, much to the delight of his many friends. He is contemplating returning to his home in Minnesota as soon as he is able to travel.

Miss Grace Sullivan of Salt Lake spent the week end, the guest of Margaret Miller. She returned home Monday evening.

The Big Four county fair held last week came to an end Saturday evening, after being voted one of the most successful ever held in Ogden. Among the race horses which won honors Dr. E. M. Conroy's deserves special mention. The weather on the first two days was ideal, but on Saturday a continuous rain caused much disappointment to many.

Haze Matson, who entered his bulldog, Major, in the recent fair, was awarded a blue ribbon, and has now taken him to the Salt Lake City to register him there.

The Knights of Columbus have issued an invitation to the members of the congregation and their friends for a social to be given in their hall on next Friday evening. Cards and dancing will be the features of the entertainment.

The October Rosary devotions have begun in St. Joseph's church and are being conducted by the Rev. Father Ryan. On Wednesday and Friday evenings benediction of the Blessed Sacrament is also given.

Tom Keough has returned from an extended business trip through the east.

John Sparzo, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, is once more able to be around.

The representatives of the Intermountain Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa., have fitted up an office in Ogden. It is on Grant avenue, in the new building near the postoffice. The new garage is almost completed also.

Mormon tabernacle choir gave a concert in the tabernacle on last Thursday, rendering the choruses which they sang at the concert in Salt Lake. Among those who sang solos were Miss Irene Strong, lately returned from New York; Miss Lulu Mitchell and Mrs. Stevens.

MARGARET MILLER, '06, Sacred Heart Academy.

The usual first Friday devotions were received with double fervor at the academy, marking as they did, the beginning of another novena which will end when the June days roll around, and celebrating at the same time the Feast of the Holy Guardian Angels.

The Feast of the Holy Rosary, always one of special observance to devoted clients of Our Lady, was observed without, yet carried sweet consolation to the hearts of Mary's children. Mass in the academy chapel at 7, and the recitation of the entire Rosary at 2 p. m. told a love that consists of deeds, not words.

The class of 1909 gloried in its first social function on the 4th, when Miss Loretta Malone entertained the other members at dinner served in her home on Twelfth street. The fact that she is the accomplished daughter of one of her entertaining powers, the genial ability of this dear little hostess being long familiar to Ogdenites.

The first month of September, those for the month of September were given last Monday afternoon by Rev. P. M. Cushman, the faculty being present. After the distribution of the Rosary, the pupils were in order. The Rosary was read, and the faculty of labor, its universal joy, and endeavored to impress upon all the obligation of work, which especially meant earnest study for those attending school.

Social visitors to Sacred Heart during the past week were Mrs. M. Donaghy Crowley, '04, and her husband, who seemed to find the academy one of the most interesting points on their honeymoon trip. They are residing in Logan, where Mr. Crowley's interests lie.

All too short was the visit of Mrs. E. P. Collman of Idaho Falls, and daughter, Alice, '08, who called to see old friends last Saturday. We trust their next trip will permit a longer stay at Sacred Heart, which has counted the members of the family among its staunch friends.

Tardy, yet very welcome, were the Misses Irene Mendes and Mydla Rouff, almost the last among "the old girls" to settle down to the work, which they will be obliged to attack with extra zest on account of past prolonged pleasures.

During each month of the scholastic year an exact account is kept of those young ladies whose conduct is faultless, and the result will appear on the tablet of honor which will be published regularly in the pages of the Intermountain. Some absentees lessen the September list, which will be true, but increased by the end of October.

Roll of honor for politeness, neatness, order, amiability, correct deportment and observance of rules for the month of September:

The Endless-Chain Prayer.

During the past week two members of the cathedral have been greatly worried over receiving endless-chain letters. The following from the New York Freeman's Journal will interest them:

"Once again, is the endless-chain prayer anonymously going its weary rounds, in spite of the repeated and forcible condemnation of Catholic pulpits and press. Some mistaken devotee has given the exiling superstition a new lease of life, and the 'miraculous' prayer is disturbing the peace of Catholic households, with its threats of dire calamity, in case it is disregarded, and enticing promise of great joy even within nine days, if its taste for continuity be gratified.

"Let no intelligent Catholic be misled by terms that are self-convincing of error. The prayer of faith is good always, but superstition is a sin; and God never confines himself to a definite date, nor to petty mortal conditions for the granting of his divine favors. The imperative power of prayer lies in its spirit, not in its form, time, or duration; and answer comes as and when God wills, and usually when least expected. Let no Catholic in receipt of the endless-chain prayer hesitate to ignore it. To promulgate it is to spread the evil of superstition. To suppress it will be a good deed.

"The Cat and the Fiddle."

The pronounced success of the beautifully staged musical extravaganza, "The Cat and the Fiddle," bespeaks for it here an overwhelming house. A Broadway success of more than the ordinary type, it has scored a series of triumphs in all the larger cities throughout the east. There is nothing small about this production, from its magnificently equipped stage accessories and mechanical effects to the large and capable company and the winsome beauty of its well-trained chorus.

"The Cat and the Fiddle" is on the order of "The Wizard of Oz," "Rabes in Toyland," "The Top of the World," etc., but in its own peculiar line it stands in a class by itself. It combines all the attractiveness of an extravaganza with the beauties of a great spectacular piece. Its scenes are marvels of illusion, transformation and mystifying stagecraft. The atmosphere affords delight both to old and young, stimulating the imagination of the latter, and recalling the days of childhood to the former.

"The Cat and the Fiddle" will be seen for the first time here at the Salt Lake theatre next Thursday. Manager Toyland, who has in this attraction one that will give unalloyed pleasure to every theatre-goer who attends.
